What is Safer Internet Day?

Safer Internet Day (SID) is organised in February of each year to promote safer and more responsible use of online technology and mobile devices, especially among children and young people across the world.

Celebrated on the second day of the second week of the second month, each year on Safer Internet Day hundreds of events are organised to raise awareness of online safety issues, right across the globe.

Let’s create a better internet together!

This year’s Safer Internet Day theme again looks at the responsibility that we must all take in making the internet a better place. Whether we are children and young people, parents and carers, educators or social care workers, or indeed industry, decision makers or politicians, we all have a role to play.
The home of all things SID!

Safer Internet Day (SID) is organised by Insafe in February of each year to promote safer and more responsible use of online technology and mobile phones, especially among children and young people across the world.

Safer Internet Day 2015 will be celebrated on Tuesday 10 February 2015, with the strapline, once again, of “Let’s create a better internet together” following the success of last year’s campaign.

This website showcases some of the exciting activities and events that took place to celebrate the day in 2014. Click on the map below to get started, using the zoom control to locate the contacts and events in your country or visit the ‘SID Near You’ section to explore news from the many countries and institutions involved. Visit the ‘SID Gallery’ to find great resources from across the Insafe network and beyond to help shape your activities and campaigns.

Safer Internet Day in Germany

The 2015 edition of Safer Internet Day will be focused on the promotion of positive initiatives and activities - namely on the basis of RESOLVE recommendations and tools available.

In February 10th, in order to take into account winter holiday opportunities to join in, the event will be celebrated in the country by the Internet Awareness Centre.

Safer Internet Day 2015

In Germany, the Awareness Centre klicksafe Initiative and coordinates activities and events on Safer Internet Day. The aim of klicksafe is to encourage as many institutions, organisations, companies, schools and other groups as possible to participate in the day with actors of their own. klicksafe collects and publishes information on all SID projects on www.klicksafe.de/sid.

Safer Internet Day 2015

With regard to Safer Internet Day 2015 klicksafe has started various initiatives all over Germany in promoting SID. As the central national initiative, klicksafe will organise a press release in Berlin with experts from partners and prominent guests. Information about the klicksafe focus will be published in a follow-up.

Safer Internet Day 2015 activities in Germany

As in previous years a large number of people and organisations will offer a great number of events all over Germany. You can find activities concerning Safer Internet Day in Germany in our list of events or our interactive google map (both updated on a regular basis).

The Brazilian Safer Internet Day 2015 activities in Brazil

We are happy to celebrate the seventh Brazilian Safer Internet Day. Brazil is coordinating a national mobilisation of authorities to promote a safer Internet in Brazil.

One Good Thing Campaign

ConnectSafety.org encourages all Americans to share “One Good Thing” they’ve done or will do to make the Internet a better place or the world a better place using the Internet. All users- young people, parents, educators, law enforcement people, policymakers and organizations are encouraged to participate by posting short (60- to 300-word) video or text comments at OneGoodThing.org.

California Event

ConnectSafety will share people’s “One Good Thing” at a Safer Internet Day event on Feb. 10 at Facebook’s headquarters in Menlo Park, California. The event will be broadcast live starting at 2 p.m. PST at SaferInternetDay.us and Facebook/Safety.

Along with a “One Good Thing” presentation, the event will feature two panel discussions, “Beyond Bullying: Dealing with Trolling & Social Cruelty” and “Using Technology to Effect Social Change,” featuring youth participants, experts and tech industry representatives. Also in attendance will be...
Safer Internet Day 2015

Ask.fm is a proud supporter of the official Safer Internet Day event in the US, which will be held at Facebook's campus on February 10. There, we will join our counterparts at Google, Microsoft, Twitter of course Facebook to discuss, learn, share and promote how we can individually and collaboratively make the Internet a better place. Our Chief Trust and Safety Officer, Catherine Teitelbaum, will also speak at the event.

In Europe, we are partnering with leading child advocacy group Childnet and are also a sponsor of Safer Internet Day in London to extend our efforts across the pond to the country that is truly leading the effort on spreading the message and adoption of Safer Internet Day for the last decade. We will also launch our global social media campaign designed to generate awareness/support around our key theme in the weeks leading up to February 10, 2015: say no to bullies and bullying behavior online.

What are we doing for a better Internet

The new leadership at Ask.fm is highly invested in creating safer and more positive experiences on the Ask.fm platform. Empowering and educating Ask.fm users on how to connect and engage in ways that are not only safe, but aligned with creating a better Internet for all of us is the foundation of our vision. Safer Internet Day is a critical movement for both our industry and Internet users all over the world, and we want to do our part to support it in any way we can.

Ask.fm

As the only global social network built on a Q&A format, we at Ask.fm believe questions and answers are the building blocks of conversation, self-expression and deeper understanding. The natural exchange of questions and answers allows users to engage with friends and express themselves through the lens of what their social connections are curious to learn about them. Purchased by US company and leading Q&A brand Ask.com in 2014, Ask.fm’s new leadership is steadfastly dedicated to making Ask.fm a safer, more fun and engaging place for learning more about yourself and exploring the social world around you.

About Habbo

Habbo Hotel is a place for teens to meet new and existing friends, express your creativity and simply have fun. It’s a rich, colorful pixel art wonder world populated by millions of avatars called Habbohs. Explore millions of rooms created by other users in the virtual community. Habbo is a virtual hotel where millions of people from around the world go to live out their fantasies. It’s a massively multiplayer experience where users design rooms, roleplaying in organizations, and even open their own trade shops and cafes. Currently there are over 120 million user-generated rooms in the 12 Habbo language communities.

From the very first moment teens step into our virtual Hotel, we want them to know that they can enjoy themselves without offending anyone and that being tolerant when it comes to the opinions and differences between others is the way to go. There is also a certain community spirit, driven by initiatives such as the Habbo Ambassadors, a group of experienced, mature Habbohs who’s main mission it is to welcome new users to the hotel and show them the Habbo ropes. They also support our Habbo way and give advice to community members on how to surf safely.
This year, we’ve taken a slightly different approach to the SID Involvement Kit for schools. Below you will find a gallery of resources - from across the Insafe network and beyond - to help you celebrate SID in your school. Search by country, language or age to find resources to meet your needs, or just browse the list.
